About Mudgee

An elegant destination with heritage streetscapes, Mudgee is on the banks of the meandering Cudgegong River and the perfect escape for wine tasting, delicious food and outdoor adventure. The National Trust describes the town as 'one of the finest groups of townscape in a country area'.

Mudgee is a 3.5 hours' drive northwest of Sydney. It is the perfect destination for a weekend away. There are fantastic things to do and see in Mudgee – ranging from the many wineries and cellar doors to exploring the World heritage listed Wollemi National Park - home of the Wollemi Pine, its evolutionary lineage dates back 90 million years.

Mudgee is not only famous for its wines but also its delicious offerings at acclaimed restaurants such as Elton's and cool wine bars such as Roth's and the many scrumptious cafes.

Stroll along the pretty tree-lined street and admire the colonial buildings dating back to the 1850's

Accommodation options are plentiful and suit all budgets.
